

MIA Men

Many of the men missing from family circles today grew up in father absent homes themselves. Despite appearances to the contrary, something instinctive exists in virtually all men, that when stirred, is compelling.

God knew mankind would eventually unravel at the seams, where the fabric of our very existence is woven by the joining of one person to another. God knew our enemy would seek to divide us, and then conquer. The enemy has divided us at our center, our families. God knew we would self-destruct from the inside out.

God cares. Long before people realized fatherlessness was a critical problem, God, prophetically prescribed the exact intervention we need today. See Malachi 4:5-6 (KJV)

“Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the Lord: and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse.”

Something is changing, something of Biblically prophetic proportions. We believe fathers will turn their hearts back toward their families.

There is a place for you in this movement of God's design to help fathers and families recover what they have lost. Birth of a Family--Completing family circles with fathers.
